Présentation

Description

In order to take advantage of your B2 language skills, we will study three different versions of Tennessee Williams' story : The Night Of The Iguana. You can start by watching the movie of the same name, directed by John Ford, starring Richard Burton and Ava Gardner. It is available at the university library and in most other local libraries. We will also study parts of the play and the full short story, paper versions of which will be provided the first day of class.
